..the students ran the school..

"If students were in charge of the school, seniors would rule. There wouldn't be any rules and no one would go to seminar.

Everyone would leave for lunch and do what they wanted." -junior Neely Atha

"Seniors would be treated like royalty, and the freshmen would be slaves to the upperclassmen."

..the school caught on fire..

"If that were to occur we would probably relocate to a different high school in the district and have what used to be called 'double sessions.' That is the building of the school we would be assigned would probably go to school from 7:00 a.m. until 12 noon and then we would occupy the same building from 1:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. Of course the times are not anything specific." -principal Karl Krawitz

"If the school burned down I don't think anyone would go the way they were supposed to out of the building. I hope that no one would get hurt, the animals in Environmental Ed would stay safe, and the firemen would come quickly."
-senior Anna Sheridan

..dress code violations were reversed..

"The rule that applies to everyone, males and females, is the distraction. If it's considered a distraction for any reason and takes away from the learning environment then we are going to call them on it."
-associate principal John McKinney

..the whole class of 2013 didn't graduate..

"There would be over 400 additional students at SM East next year resulting in much larger class sizes, and the need for additional teachers. If the entire class did not graduate, and especially since East is such a high performing school, there would be a lot of questions from the school district and the Kansas State Board of Education as to why students were not successful!" -associate principal Molli Anderson
